

Here is some of the science, with applications for hundreds of practical uses forthcoming

Sound can be made to travel multi-dimensionally (3-D surround sound, etc.) along lines, loops, spirals, etc. in various directions, each channel or sub-channel starting at specific points and moving together in specific patterns.

This causes amazing things to happen because energy fields and scalar waves, etc. Are created in part through symmetry and multi-dimensional symmetry

By combining and synchronizing waves and pulses in certain specific ways, you can do amazing things to plants, animals and people. Especially working with ratios found in nature, such as pi, phi, 3:4:5, etc. When sound is done geometrically, using double and triple helix, etc. every interesting things occur. The same is true with light and electromagnetic fields (especially when pulsed). Bruce Rawles and others can do software for me per request to create the picture. Engineers at Seinhouser & Bose can make the sound travel per m direction.

- a. My things balance plants, animals, and people and make energy circulate better.
- b. Changes surface tension of H₂O and other (lower dynes)(makes cell membranes absorb nutrients and expel toxins more efficiently)
- c. Increases photon emission and absorption!
- d. Increases vitamin and mineral absorption.
- e. Makes biological activity use less energy for electron transfer, etc.
- f. Makes DNA easier to manipulate
- g. Other - including making more energy output out of gasoline, natural gas & other.
- h. Human potential- other
- II. We have another system that uses 12 small speakers on the body to influence/balance the 7 primary endocrine glands and spinal cord.
- III. We have another system that stimulates and/or balances the primary acupuncture meridians.
- IV. We have another system that stimulates hands and feet.
- V. We have another that has tiny speakers on both sides of the spine in between each vertebrae. The polarity alternates from vertebrae to vertebrae to stimulate bioelectric & cerebral spinal flow. Stimulation patterns that feel like waves and/or pulses of acoustic massage.
- VI. All systems are compatible and modular & can plug in to each other!
- VII. All systems can network with sound & light machines and even computers.
- VIII. Our many passive systems, including "Universal EF Circuits" and the Synergizing Facilitator balance organisms
- IX. We have many other systems, including those for agriculture (plants & animals) that increase growth and production.
- X. A more advanced version can be done with 13 speakers for medical, psychological & other therapeutic applications & many multiple military uses that will NOT be addressed here...
- XI. There are other systems that add to this that affect key acupuncture points, energy centers etc.. Putting sound through these centers & also incorporating specific geometries...
- .XII Also works with pulsed noble gases under pressure with pulsed magnetic field generators performing frequency sweeps up and down the scales and integrating specific waveform geometries and dozens of other proven methods

Note: By doing different patterns and sequencing combinations, the systems can virtually meditate the body and mind in ways that allow the average person to experience (within minutes) the effects of doing 30-40 different yoga, tantra, energy and consciousness raising or altering systems that would normally take 30 years practice. 26 hours per day. Systems can make energy fields more coherent and induce multi-directional symmetry balancing left /right, top/bottom, front/back, various diagonals, spirally in multiple directions and equalizing expansion/contraction activity.
