

Dr. Hunt's equipment and products also, by themselves, can potentially allow for financial independence.

Using telemetry instruments similar to those for recording brain, heart and muscle waves from outer space, Dr. Hunt, in the electromyographic laboratory department of physiological science at UCLA recorded electromagnetic vibrations not previously known. Analysis of this data by Fourier transform and voice spectrogram yielded consistent information patterns of frequency, spectra and sequential wave trains and amplitudes unique to each subject. These related both to patterns of pain, emotions and disease symptoms, as well as patterns found with health, well being, clear thinking and other positive traits. Although these initial analyses have been considered "state-of-the-art" by traditional scientists, doctors, biologists, physicists and other traditional disciplines, new technology has now been developed quantum leaps ahead of anything else in the world today, "filling in the gaps" and "connecting the dots" better than anything else.

In addition to Transformational Breakthroughs being able to be a master wholesaler of products, additional opportunities are available using, funding and promoting her equipment (see Abstract)

Condensed Summary – When people, plants and animals are strong, healthy and performing at peak levels, the bio-energy field shows increased amplitude, stability, coherency and wide ranges of color frequencies. Different activities and states of mind have consistent energy patterns that can also be measured, modeled and learned (or broadcast for entrainment or other applications) for example – having the right idea or best insight shows consistent patterns. Incredible courage, compassion, even fabulous, above normal sexual responses, have consistent patterns. People in great states of learning, creativity and most efficient discovery or analysis, or other peak states, display consistent energetic patterns for specific states which can be broadcast.

Dr. Hunt recorded energy field sounds of hundreds of healthy people, seeking the healthiest and best energy patterns, so people, plants and animals could benefit rapidly via broadcast by being near the sounds (see Music of Light, etc.)

Applications for these technologies include:

- 1) Healers of all types – this equipment lets you know where energy patterns are that need to be improved, and what techniques, substances (or combination), as well as environmental influences need changing, and what patterns are working best to what patterns be added or changed to make things better.
- 2) Doctors and surgeons can use this equipment both to aid in diagnosis and treatment protocols, from which medication combinations (for example antibiotics tend to produce green and/or violet frequencies) and dosages to where else and/or how much to operate, equipment shows both applicable colors and whether and how much energy patterns are producing more stability, coherency (as oppose to chaotic) and amplitude, and helps fill in the gaps x-rays, MRI's, CAT scans, SPGCT, EEG & other imaging leaves out, making it easier to see how the puzzle pieces fit together, especially before working towards denser energy bodies.
- 3) Drug companies – since disease shows up as dull, chaotic patterns, and wellness is associated with rich, stable, coherent patterns and energy colors have applications, drug companies can tailor their drugs to take into account these types of patterns and colors, ultimately making the drugs and their dosage safer and more effective.
- 4) Hospitals & HMO's, clinics and assisted living centers – same as above, both for preventive and complimentary, integrative medicine, as well as adjunct to pre & post surgery and other treatments. The fantastically useful feedback in the hands of qualified people would both save money for insurance companies, and provide extra revenue for hospitals and clinics, psychologist, psychiatrist, counselors and clergy – strong positive functional states of mind (even states of successful prayer) exhibit frequency patterns, distinct to the various states which can be learned and modeled. Fear, anger and mental illness shows up as weak or dull, chaotic patterns. Both patient and physician can tell with equipment which things are working or not and where to concentrate on for best results.
- 5) Aerospace/military – astronauts or soldiers can be measured, in real time, via telemetry applications. Commanders can tell who best to send into battle, and eve, (with the right research) what frequencies to add via broadcast to make pilots or soldiers more effective by sending energy wave patterns helpful in focusing, concentrating, stabilizing the emotions, feeling appropriately brave, courageous, increasing intuition, clairvoyance as needed and other survival instinct skills, eventually computers could automatically assist for whatever "state assistance" is needed.
- 6) Law enforcement/homeland security – Equally, or more effective than lie detector (in the hands of skilled users) law enforcement could detect lying patterns from deception patterns, as well as detect who is coming into an airport or other security zone with unusual substances, be they explosives, pathogens, or people spreading Ebola or smallpox (since, again, frequency patterns can be cataloged).
- 7) Business owners/educators/executives – decisions, when correct, tend, again, to be associated with distinctive patterns, as do advanced states of learning. These can be cataloged, modeled and learned.

PSI ability & mind over matter – same as above, for those wanting to experience strong, stable, coherent energy patterns, we recommend "Music of Light" for quick results, and "Mind Mastery Meditations". To learn more, see also the other Hunt products.

MUSIC OF LIGHT: AURIC SOUNDS

The world's first authentic sounds produced by the human auric field are harmonically correlated with contemporary, classical, and especially composed music. Designed to replenish and make coherent the human energy field. Listeners describe a magnificent experience associated with feelings of improved vitality and well-being.

The world's only pure auric sounds as selected from electronic recordings of the fields of 800 normal healthy persons. Research indicates that experiences with these sounds are the fastest single method of increasing the strength, flexibility and frequencies of your auric fields. There is strong evidence that a dynamic healthy field is the first measure of physical and emotional health.

Dr. Hunt's research has harnessed, for the first time, the inner living sounds, the perfect rhythms, the complex wave forms and resonances which connect us to our source.

◆ STABILIZING RAINBOW - Progressing in frequency, 13 rich, nourishing and coherent color sounds blend as white light to stabilize the field and encourage broad awareness. Contains all the colors of a rainbow (the vibrations of white light) completely balanced. Wherever played, these rainbow blends fill the air with coherent fullness to stabilize and offset the confusing electromagnetic vibrations and sound contaminations. Those who listen regularly to these sounds, and music find a sustaining overall "put togetherness".

◆ VITALIZING RED-AMBER-ORANGE - Vibrant stimulating sounds revitalize the physical body and activate spontaneous emotions. The warm, vibrant, stimulating spectrum, red-orange-amber, has its most profound effect upon the physical body, encouraging health, vigor, and strength, eliciting the motivation to accomplish and the enthusiasm to complete work without fatigue. Listening to these musical sounds during a work slump or drowsiness is a "pick up". These sounds vitalize and activate the body and excite and stimulate the emotions.

◆ TUNING YELLOW-GREEN-GOLD - Fine tuning of sensation and perception improves nervous system efficiency and performance and creatively activates the mind. Yellow-green-gold, has great effects on the neural tuning of all the senses. Awareness becomes purer and more elaborate, similar to the alertness of a skilled athlete or musician, so that what the person wills to do is done with increased ease. Yellow green-gold sounds tune for accomplishment in creative thought and problem solving, with quickened responses. They elaborate imagery, facilitate learning.

◆ RELAXING BLUE-VIOLET-MAUVE - Soothing relaxing spectrum encourages a quiet contemplative state of peaceful higher consciousness. The cool, soothing spectrum of blue-violet-mauve is a lullaby to the mind with its primary effects of quieting hyperactive body and emotions. Listening to these vibrations increases calmness, imparting feelings of peacefulness and tranquility. They also tend to relieve constriction, relaxing and expanding body and mind.

◆ ELEVATING WHITE-BLUE-GOLD - Etheric spiritual tones elevate thoughts and imagery to a broader world, richer beauty and deeper wisdom. A final spectrum is as the diamond to a stone - the highest and most precious and appear to have the greatest recharging effects. These sounds of blue, white, and gold carry the consciousness-expanding spectrums. Listening to such sounds results in an elevating, expansive awareness. These are the sounds of refreshment and regeneration.

COST: 5 Tapes, 60 Minutes Each, DOLBY Stereo (Not Sold Separately) Includes Shipping & Handling $150.

STABILIZING TAPE Rainbow Spectrum (13 Colors)

Provides a rich, stable, nourishing, coherent field to offset air and ground vibrational contamination, causing the human field to become grounded, complete, and stable. Persons feel a radiant wholeness.

For Additional Information On Products, Seminars & Techniques, Or To Place An Order,

This stabilizing Tape is composed of all colors and therefore all vibrations of the light spectrum and is recommended to be played throughout the day during any activity or at low-energy times to provide a stable, rich, nourishing field.

Many report that after they have been with noisy people, the sounds from this tape relax, refresh, and tone them. Such occurs because this tape contains the complete energy field spectrum. As persons continue using these tapes their field grows and stabilizes, they will most often choose this Stabilizing Tape.

Rainbow Sound Vibration with harmonically Correlated Music

VITALIZING TAPE      Red-Orange-Amber

This spectrum increases physical vigor and potency; encourages feelings of vibrant health and well-being; strengthens, invigorates and energizes and it stimulates life forces. These vibrations encourage pleasant, spontaneous emotions and joyful states, overcoming sadness, and depression. This is the tape of athletes during physical workouts.

The Vitalizing Tape is a wake-up tape. It should be played before rising, during dressing, or at additional times by persons who are gaining strength after illness or weakness from fatigue. These sounds relate to and accompany physical vitality. You will experience these sounds in the lower part of the body, in the legs and feet and in the hollow areas of the trunk, often with sensations of tingling aliveness.

Research has shown that muscular instability, unsteadiness in walking, is accompanied by weakness in these low vibrations or red spectrum frequencies, as is poor circulation and coldness in the feet and legs.

Users of this tape state that they have become more active throughout the day, are stronger, and more alert to things going on around them. They also say they feel more alive, that their tiredness is gone, and they now are more interested in doing things. Friends often comment they look better and seem more alert.

Red-Orange-Amber Sound Vibrations with Stimulating Harmonically Correlated Contemporary Music

TUNING TAPE      Yellow-Green-Gold

This spectrum improves perception through heightened sensory awareness; stimulates efficiency of nervous system to improve coordination, balance, reaction time--important for perfecting new skills. It also causes an Alpha brain-state, essential for creative thought, problem solving, concentration, innovation, and rapid learning. Experiences with these sounds are in the sensory-neural system throughout the body. Users describe experiencing tingling inside their limbs. There is a strong consistency in reports of heightened hearing, vision and more stability when moving about. Some think more clearly, and have a sharpened memory, suddenly remembering where they left something.

Reports point to improved sensory awareness and perception leading us to speculate some possible neural facilitation. Some oldsters chose this Tuning Tape for relaxation.

Yellow-Green-Gold Sound Vibrations with Harmonically Correlated Waltz Music.

RELAXING TAPE      Blue-Violet-Mauve

This spectrum is very effective in increasing calmness and relaxation, decreasing physical and emotional tensions, giving feelings of wholeness, comfort, peacefulness, and tranquility. It prepares for skill activities, decreases muscle soreness after exercise and hastens quiet sleep. Pleasant higher consciousness with expanded awareness are its rewards.

This is the evening tape, played as the person wishes to relax, read or sleep. These vibrations are felt distinctly in the upper body, the chest, and the head. During quiet, contemplative, peaceful states, most humans have a predominantly blue violet mauve field. Electroencephalographic studies show that people move rapidly into Alpha states, with expanded awareness or sleep.

Oldsters often remark that the "little twitches" and painful muscle areas tend to relax and the pain to disappear. Others describe a general sense of well-being. Common is the rapidity of falling asleep. Users report that although they slept fewer hours at night, they believed it was a deeper sleep because they awoke more refreshed. Both good and bad sleepers reported that they had a more refreshing sleep.

ELEVATING TAPE      Blue-White-Gold

This spectrum stimulates higher awareness, peace and contentment, togetherness and clear thinking. It assists in processing problems on a higher level with solutions of wisdom. It encourages spiritual feelings and love.

The final spectrum is as a diamond to an ordinary stone--the most elegant and the most precious. The highest frequencies seem to have the most charging effect. These sounds carry the consciousness-expanding spectrum's characteristic of spiritual feelings and love. These vibrations fill the air with coherent fullness, offsetting the confusing electromagnetic vibrations and sound contamination. These sounds bring elevated awareness, lifting thought from often tedious material existence into the ethereal, spiritual realms. These are the sounds of refreshment with restorative powers to recharge the human tissue and regenerate the human mind bringing peace, contentment, and a sense of "togetherness" essential to problem-solving at the level of wisdom.

Blue-White-Gold Sound Vibrations with Harmonically Correlated Musical Notes.

To summarize, the highest human vibration spectrum is like the oscillations of plasma surrounding space crafts, the sounds of outer space, the divine. The middle spectrum reflects the thoughts and machinations of the human mind, creating, planning, relating, interfacing. The lower vibrational spectrum mirrors the biological, material, sensitive flow of the realities of the universe, encoded by existence of life in the physical world.

How to listen to the auric tapes

Simply evaluate your specific need at the particular time, then select that tape most suitable. Because these frequently expand consciousness the user should test his response by listening for short periods.

One does not have to pay attention to or perceive these sounds through the ears -- these vibrations provide a rich, resonating field wherever you are. Research shows, they constantly affect the field of the person. The five audiotapes are designed and titled according to their general physical effects, such as Stabilizing, Vitalizing, Tuning, Relaxing, and Elevating.

If you drop off to sleep or your mind wanders, you will still interact with field vibrations. And, as your field becomes stronger and more complete, you may wish to increase the volume and/or the time the tape is played. Because each tape is made up of different frequency ranges of the human field, these have a definite effect.

These sounds are produced for stereo tape recorders. They are sounds in particular frequencies, the "noise" sounds that you hear are the auric sounds. Music has been selected with similar sound spectra to blend with the aura. You are most likely to hear the aura color sound when the music is of low intensity or between music selections.

Most people listen to music specifically for note quality. This is a linear way like the eyes focus on details at the expense of peripheral vision. You should listen to feel the sound as a surround sound filling a room and moving through your body. This is holistic experiential listening. Your own field becomes more flexible and more receptive to the frequencies that you lack and your consciousness expands. Then you will no longer hear the "noise" of the auric sound - they blend, creating the greatest good and the most coherent fullness. These sounds will effect your field even if you are not aware of hearing them so you can turn down the volume until barely audible.

You may prefer particular sound tapes better than others, because these contain a predominate vibration of your own field. These you need the least. You should play the least liked tapes more often.

Scientist Proves the Existence of the Human Aura - DR. HUNT MEASURES AND MAPS OUR BIO—ENERGY FIELD!

Dr. Hunt's work is a unique and ground breaking contribution to our understanding of the energy field that surrounds and affect our minds and bodies. This research has many practical implications. Dr. Hunt was able to measure changes in the human energy fields which were soon followed by negative changes in physical and mental states. This proves how changes in our energy fields occur prior to the diagnosis of actual disease conditions.

Dr. Valerie Hunt has had a distinguished 40-year career as a university professor and physiology researcher. Currently a Professor Emeritus at UCLA; she has now achieved objective, repeatable measurements of the field surrounding the human body.

Through 25 years of extensive research, she developed a recording device to discover and measure frequency patterns existing in physiological, emotional and consciousness based conditions and diseases.

Her data also shows the first "chaos" patterns ever demonstrated in biological systems.

Major gaps in brain neurophysiology and an emphasis on chemistry with shots and pills to cure all health problems have treated symptoms with limited success and danger. Redirected research, however, discovers that the mind is a field of information, the true source of all health problems. Energy medicine is the visionary medicine of the future.

LECTURE TAPE – “BIOCOSMIC CONNECTION” - COST: 90 Minute Tape, Includes Shipping & Handling $16.

Research with brain waves, holograms and energy fields show how these two separate material entities actually transact as one and the practical application of these transactions to our lives.

For the first time, pioneering research with high frequency electronics captured and elucidated the human energy field and observed field transactions; people with people, with atmosphere, with Earth vibrations, and with thought waves. From these studies a new model emerged of the macrocosmic links of humans and cosmos, and how the mind-field creates illness and health, underlies all communication and creativity and makes telepathy and clairvoyance rational.

Understanding the subtle energy systems that flow through body meridians, connective tissues and by neuropeptide transmission along with discovery of the elegant chaos pattern in the human field makes it understandable why a gentle energy nudge can snatch order out of the random chaos of extensive dysfunction and bring about miraculous healing and regeneration.

COLOR PREFERENCES, COLOR NEEDS, COLOR EFFECTS - 1 Tape (90 minutes) Suggested contribution $16.00
Color preferences, effects and needs reflect our deepest responses to color. The color vibrations of our own "aura" constitute a color screen which alters and accentuates our visual color perception. Objects do not possess a fixed color of their own; they only have changing vibrations which result in light reflections from the pigment these contain. It is the reflected light filtered through a person's aura from which he makes judgments which create his physical and emotional experience with color. Electronic research is discussed as applied to the effects of color upon vitality and strength, relaxation and calmness, and extended sensory awareness.

BIOENERGY FIELDS, An Overview

Throughout recorded history there are references to light emissions observed to come from the human body. Scientific quantification of light emissions were shown by photo graphs of the body taken with colored glass filters (1910, England). De La Mar built the first radionics recorder to measure by scale the living tissue radiations (1940, Germany). Burr discovered an electro-magnetic field in all living tissue with fluctuations and variations over time (1930-1960, U.S.A.). Kirlian photographic research displayed energy field changes during emotional states (1939, Russia).

For years we have known that life is an electrical fact; that all vital systems operate electrically. Recently we have found that a cell is a bioelectric wonder - with polarities and energy field effects. Relatively inert substances, like membranes, connective tissue, tendons, ligaments, and fascia also participate in chemical interaction. These tissue create and carry electrical impulses. Each living animal or plant cell is endowed with intracellular, cellular, and gross structural polarities that furnish living tissue with electromagnetism. [Already, pulsed low magnetic fields by acupuncture are reported to change enzyme action, hasten vascular flow and create anesthesia.]

William Tiller, the material physicist, Stanford University, had predicted that bioelectricity is the emerging future which will determine the next generation of medical and psychological instruments for evaluation and treatment of human conditions.

Using telemetry instruments similar to those used to record brain, heart, and muscle waves of astronauts in space, Dr. Valerie V. Hunt in the Electromyographic Laboratory, Department of Physiological Science, U.C.L.A. recorded electromagnetic vibrations not previously known. Analysis of these data by Fourier Transform and Voice Spectrogram yielded consistent informational patterns of frequency spectra, sequential wave trains and amplitudes unique to each subject. These appeared to be related to such phenomena as pain, emotions, and disease symptoms.

Algorithmic formulas and new "fractal mathematics of nature" capture dynamic, non-periodic, continuous vibrations. From these computations, computer graphic displays of fractals are now creating incredible vibrational patterns from material substances. These new analytic techniques are now being used with energy field data.

"At any moment in time, a person's state of consciousness and his level of awareness is predictable from his mind-field frequency pattern (Exhibit 20).

During the state of ordinary reality, focus is on the material world. The energies are confined to the lower frequencies up to 250 Hz, coming from nerve and brain activity.

In altered states, with a psychic, hypnotic or metaphysical reality, the frequencies are extended above 400 Hz. These are the beginning frequencies of the mind-field. These people, who "channel" information about current life and who make predictions about future material happenings, have powerful energies in this lower mind-field spectrum. Some of these psychics display unusual skills to obtain hidden information.

There is another group of persons we describe as mystics, who display the broadest awareness with a complete range of uninterrupted frequencies. Mystics have available at all times the capacities of the psychics and the trance mediums, but they additionally tap into lofty spiritual knowings. Their predictions are universal and transcending and full of wisdom. We recorded their field frequencies to 200 kHz, as high as our instruments could record. In their presence one sees or senses powerful white light."
